Caesar for Sight Reading

By Towle and Jenks

CLOTH .40

This book includes the most interesting portions of Caesar, and is so carefully edited that the class which has been well drilled on the first two books of the Gallic War will be able to read this readily and with pleasure. Special stress is laid on acquiring a vocabulary.

HALE'S LATIN PROSE COMPOSITION

By WILLIAM GARDNER HALE, Head of the Latin Department, University of Chicago.

Cloth, 60 cents.

The book plans as much material only as can be written in one year; this is assumed to be one lesson a week. The entire ground may therefore be covered without leaving gaps in the pupil's study of constructions. The work is confined to those constructions which are common in Caesar. The sentences are not longer than those in other books, but they follow the narrative, are continuous, and are sensible. The book contains a vocabulary, and most helpfully arranged tables of case-uses and mood-uses. References are given to all the grammars in common use.

Collar and Daniell's First Year Latin

For seventeen years I have taught beginners' Latin, using Collar and Daniell's beginners' books, and I do not believe any books gotten out on a different plan has ever equaled this series. They are so well arranged pedagogically that an inexperienced teacher can, by use of them, secure the best results. First Year Latin is the best beginners' book I have ever examined.

W H Y

"A Latin Grammar," by PROFESSOR H. E. BURTON, of Dartmouth College, is the best grammar for both secondary schools and colleges on the market to-day:

In it Latin seems more like a living language than in any other grammar.

Its treatment of the formation of words under the separate parts of speech is clear and logical.

It has a most effective method of showing the relative importance of the facts stated.
